

v1.14: Training Cohorts Overhaul

REIMAGINED FEATURE!

Training Cohorts

This update brings great functionality and applicability improvements to the Training Cohorts feature, formerly known as Training Groups. You will notice that we have reimagined the look, feel and overall process of creating and managing Training Cohorts. We wanted the process and manageability of the feature to be more streamlined and we greatly increased the functionality in anticipation of features to be released in the coming months.

Trainees Categorised by Training Required

Training Cohorts are your ticket to classifying your trainees by the training they require. Do your office administration staff need Fire Training and Occupational Health and Safety training? Create a cohort called "Office Admin" and add the relevant experiences they require.

Cohorts can additionally contain members from all divisions under the company which it was created. This allows cohorts to span multiple divisions of your company so that those members are included and their training be managed by the parent company. If you add a Manager from a division as an Owner, they will be able to manage their own trainees within the Training Group. Start by naming the Training Cohort, optionally giving it a description, and choose a frequency which members of this Training Cohort will be required to complete this training.

Modifying a Cohort is Easy!

When new members join your team, or if team members move on, it is quite a simple process to update relevant cohorts. Simply click on the Training Cohort in the list you want to modify and the below modal will show up. Click on a circle next to the member's name to add or remove that member from the role type you selected. If a member has one of the role options active, they are a member of that Training Cohort as that role type. A member with neither of the two role types selected is not a member of the Training Cohort.
